The Mathematical Structure of Classical and Relativistic

The Mathematical Structure of Classical and Relativistic Physics is the first book to analyze this structure in depth, thereby exposing the relationship between (a) global physical variables and (b) space and time elements such as points, lines, surfaces, instants, and intervals. Combining this relationship with the inner and outer orientation of space and time allows one to construct a classification diagram for variables, equations, and other theoretical characteristics.

The mathematical structure of classical and relativistic

The purpose of this book is to demonstrate the existence of a mathematical structure that is common to all physical theories of the macrocosm and to explain the origin of this common structure.
